Discussion of the Week

I always look forward to Class Assemblies that take place in the spring term. Y5 took on the mantle of going first and have really set the bar high! A large audience of family members, as well as the rest of the school, listened intently to the children and their fabulous showcase of what they have been up to since September. A whistlestop tour around art, English, PE, history, geography followed. Not to mention the plight of the killer whales, endangered by the misuse of PCBs which are used by large companies such as Dulux. The children were so articulate and confident, it was great to see how they are growing in confidence and becoming the young people that we want 7 years at Kings Copse to create! Well done Y5. We are proud of you all!

Boys Toilets

Children have been reminded of respectful use of toilets this week after it has come to light that there has been someone using the boys toilets and not leaving them as they have been found. Adults in school have been monitoring this more than usual and it has improved the situation in the latter part of the week. We would appreciate your support in reinforcing this message. We have very nice toilet facilities in our school and we would all like them to remain that way.

Y5 Cake Sale

As part of the childrens' work on coasts and the dangers to killer whales, the children in Y5 organised and ran a cake sale during breaktime and after school today. Their goal was to raise £146 to sponsor 4 killer whales, to help to prevent them from becoming extinct. I am very impressed by how motivated the children have been by the learning, and the care they are showing to the future of our planet. Undoubtedly some future change makers in our school! There was much excitement around the school at breaktime as cakes are not normally served. By the end of play, Y5 had already raised £74 towards their total and are certainly spurred on for the after school part! We will keep you posted about the final total.

Homework Y3/4

This week I have also managed to get into Y3 and 4 to be wowed by the range of homework projects completed by the children. Thank you all for your support and enthusiasm with these projects – it is lovely to hear them talk about all the things they have done with you at home.

Thank you for your continued support! Have a great weekend.
